Please join the Transitional Justice Network for a conversation about South Africa apartheid-era reparations and the Khulumani Litigation with Prof. Mia Swart, University of Johannesburg.

The goal of the Transitional Justice Network is to promote global discourse among students, scholars, and professionals on issues of transitional justice. A place for discussion, where students can learn about issue in the field, scholars can link with other scholars working in similar areas, and professionals can keep up to date with trending thoughts and philosophies.  http://www.transitional-justice.org

Prof. Mia Swart coordinates and teaches the LLM programme in international law at the University of Johannesburg. Mia was previously Research Fellow, The Bingham Centre for the Rule of Law in London and Assistant Professor of Public International law and Global Justice at Leiden University. Published in the areas of transitional justice, international criminal law, and comparative constitutional law, Mia currently focuses her research on reparations in international criminal law. In 2007 and 2009, Mia received a Humboldt research fellowship to do research at the Max Planck Institute in Freiburg and at Berlin's Humboldt University, from which she holds an LL.M.

Ruti Teitel is the Ernst C. Stiefel Professor of Comparative Law, New York Law School.

When: November 13, 2014
5:15 p.m. - 7:00 p.m.

Where:
New York Law School
185 West Broadway (corner of Leonard Street)
Boardroom, W204 (2nd floor)
New York, NY 10013

Light Refreshments