Recent Decisions

Kiobel v. Royal Dutch Petroleum Co. .............................................. 65
The U.S. Supreme Court found that the Alien Tort Statute does not grant Nigerian human rights victims the ability to bring their case in U.S. courts based on extraterritoriality.

Starshinova v. Batratchenko ....................................................... 71
The U.S.D.C. for the S.D.N.Y. held that extraterritoriality barred Russian investors alleging fraud regarding investments sold to them outside the U.S. because neither the Securities Exchange Act nor the Commodities Exchange Act applied to investments that were not listed on a domestic stock exchange.

Corporación Mexicana de Mantenimiento Integral v. PEMEX-Exploración y Producción ......................................................... 77
The U.S.D.C. for the S.D.N.Y. held it had discretion to disregard a Mexican appellate court’s decision to vacate an arbitration award because the decision violated the basic notions of justice by applying a law not in effect when the parties contracted.

Onrubia de Beeck v. Lopez Costa ............................................... 83
The Plaintiff’s claims for fraud, unjust enrichment, and breach of fiduciary duty against an Argentine therapist each presented a choice of law issue. The court applied an interest-analysis approach to decide which of three jurisdictions’ law should apply: New York’s, Argentina’s, or the British Virgin Islands’.

Thai-Lao Lignite (Thailand) Co., Ltd. v. Laos .................................. 93
The U.S.D.C. for the S.D.N.Y. held that the stringent standard for the attachment of a sovereign’s property did not apply to discovery of the sovereign’s assets; discovery may be ordered broadly in order to enforce a valid judgment.

Valentini v. Citigroup, Inc. ............................................................ 101
The U.S.D.C. for the S.D.N.Y. granted Defendants’ motions for sanctions and security for costs in part and granted Defendants’ motion to amend their Answer, holding that Plaintiffs, a Brazilian company, were negligent in failing to comply with discovery orders.

Grit and mindset: Implications for women lawyers

Grit has been shown to predict achievement, often above and beyond other metrics - such as GPA or rank of law school - that many law firm recruiting departments often look to first. And just as motivation, self-discipline and optimism can be nurtured, experts believe grit and mindset can be learned and developed.

By Milana Hogan and Katherine Larkin-Wong

FEATURES

Legal Guides: Judith Resnik
Arthur Liman Professor of Law at Yale, Judith Resnik is also NAWL's 2013 Arabella Babb Mansfield Award winner. The award is given in recognition of professional achievement, positive influence and valuable contribution to women in the law and society.

Pregnancy discrimination reexamined:
Accommodations for pregnancy under the ADAAA
With the enactment of the PDA, prohibiting employment discrimination on the basis of pregnancy, childbirth or related medical conditions, the legal landscape for pregnant women in the workplace changed.
