

Center on FINANCIAL SERVICES LAW
at New York Law School

Presents

Swaps Clearing in the Post Dodd-Frank Era

Thursday, April 21, 2011 • 4:00 p.m.–5:45 p.m.
Auditorium • New York Law School, 185 West Broadway
A cocktail reception will follow.
Two CLE credits will be awarded.

Speakers:

Alessandro Cocco, Managing Director, JP Morgan
Alisa Ruvinsky, Executive Director, JP Morgan

Mr. Cocco and Ms. Ruvinsky are adjunct professors teaching courses on the ISDA Master Agreement and OTC Clearing in the LL.M. in Financial Services Law graduate program here at New York Law School.

Topics:

- The paradigm has changed: swaps after Dodd-Frank
- OTC bilateral, cleared swaps, and futures
- Exchanges, SEFs, and clearing houses
- Segregation and portability
- Can you make systemic risk disappear? Is it still there?
Who is at risk for what?
- Are systemically important CCPs utilities or for-profit entities?
- Open access and governance
- Documentation: the Futures Agreement, ISDAs, and Give-Ups
- Global developments

To attend this special event, please send your RSVP via e-mail by April 18, to Professor Ronald Filler at: ronald.filler@nyls.edu.

