

WE ARE NEW YORK'S LAW SCHOOL

Full-Time Tenure Track and Lateral Faculty Positions

New York Law School (NYLS), located in the heart of Tribeca and blocks away from New York City's Financial District, Civic Center, and tech sector, invites both entry-level and lateral candidates to apply for tenure-track or tenured faculty positions. Our curricular needs range widely, and we welcome applications from candidates in all fields. Our principal need this year lies in business law (particularly, corporations, securities, and commercial law), but we are also eager to speak with outstanding scholars well-suited to teach first-year courses in property, contracts, torts, and criminal law, among other fields.

New York Law School seeks exceptional candidates who will advance our mission of preparing lawyers committed to the rule of law and the highest standards of the legal profession. We believe that diverse viewpoints, backgrounds, and experiences strengthen legal education and the profession itself—enriching classroom discussions, challenging untested assumptions, and better preparing our graduates to serve all communities in need of legal assistance. Excellence in legal education requires the full spectrum of human insight and experience. To view our strategic plan, visit www.nyls.edu/strategy, and for information on the School's commitment to diversity and inclusion, see www.nyls.edu/diversity.

Compensation

The salary range is from $155,000 to $210,000, expressed in annual terms.

How to Apply

Please submit a detailed curriculum vitae listing relevant legal practice and law school experience, a cover letter expressing your interest and describing your qualifications, and a list of references to Tenure/Tenure-Track Faculty Appointments Committee Chair Justin Murray at facultyappointments@nyls.edu.

About New York Law School

Founded in 1891, New York Law School (NYLS) is an independent law school located in Tribeca, the heart of New York City's legal, government, financial, and emerging tech centers. Known as "New York's law school," NYLS embraces the city as its classroom by complementing a rigorous legal education with an innovative and diverse set of "uniquely New York" experiential learning opportunities. Since opening its doors, NYLS has produced graduates who have gone on to hold high elected and appointed office in the city, lead large and small firms, and gain broad recognition as captains of business and industry. Its renowned faculty of prolific scholars has built the School's strength in key areas of the law, including business and financial services, intellectual property and privacy, and government and public interest law. NYLS has more than 20,000 graduates and currently enrolls around 1,100 students in its full-time and part-time J.D. programs. The School also offers an advanced-degree program in Tax Law.

New York Law School is an Equal Opportunity Employer

All qualified candidates will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, national or ethnic origin, age, disability, or veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.