What is the current state of voting rights after the Supreme Court's groundbreaking and impactful decision in Louisiana v. Callais (2026)? Distinguished Adjunct Professor Jeff Wice, a national expert on election law, voting rights, redistricting, and census law, will provide an overview of voting rights in the United States and insights into the big battles on this frontier and the future of minority voting rights.

This event is co-sponsored by the Center for New York City and State Law.

COMMUNITY DAYS

Community Days: Law in Context workshops provide students with an opportunity to examine American law and legal institutions in the context of the role of race in our history, politics, and culture.
